

US & Canada Data Analytics Job Market Dashboard

Total Jobs

812

Average Salary

153.95K

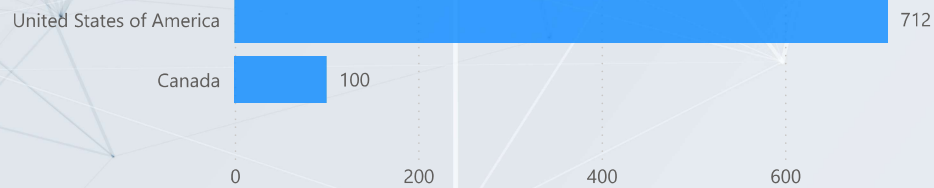

Total Cities

239

Remote Jobs

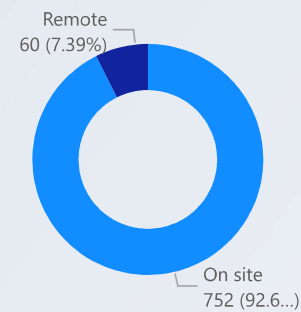

60

Total jobs by country

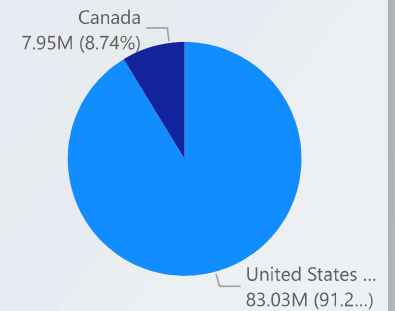

- ☐ United States of America
- ☐ Canada

Distribution of jobs based on work mode

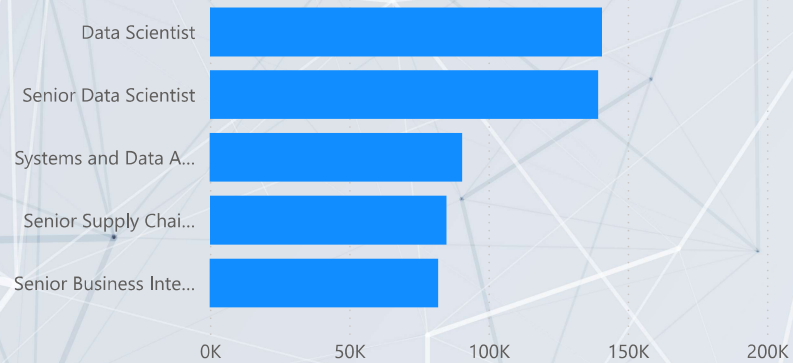

- ☐ On site
- ☐ Remote

Average salary by country

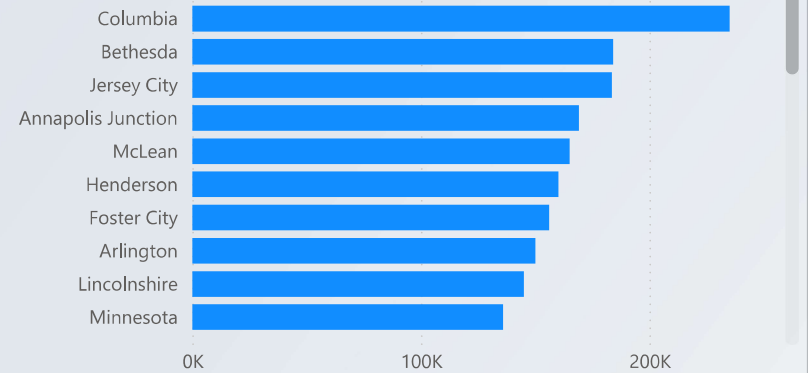

Salary Insights Dashboard

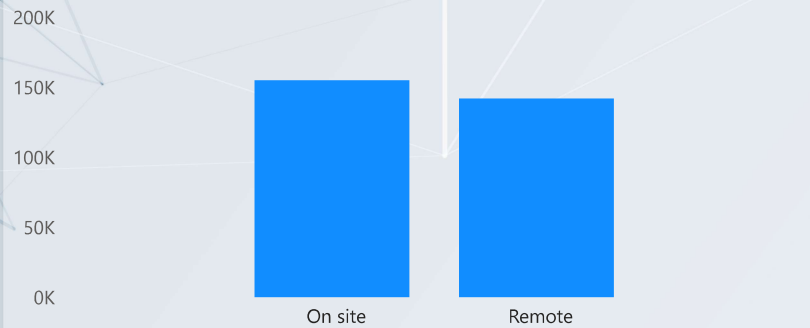

Average of salary by job position

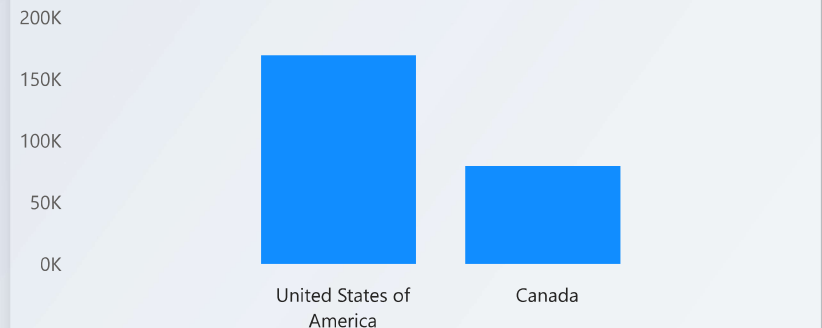

Average of salary by city

Average salary by work mode

Average salary by country

KEY INSIGHTS

- The US market has significantly higher analytics hiring demand compared to Canada.
- Data Scientist, AI Engineer, and Machine Learning roles are among the most in-demand positions.
- Full time opportunities dominate the market, long term hiring demand for analytics and AI professionals.
- Businesses increasingly require skills in Python, SQL, Power BI, AI, and dashboard development.
- Demand for Business Intelligence, reporting, and analytics solutions is rapidly increasing across industries.

SALARY INSIGHTS

- Senior Data Scientist and AI-focused roles show some of the highest average salary ranges, highlighting strong market value for advanced analytical and AI expertise.
- The salary trends indicate increasing business investment in data-driven decision-making and AI adoption.
- Senior Data Scientist and AI-focused roles show some of the highest average salary ranges, highlighting strong market value for advanced analytical and AI expertise.
- Major technology-focused cities provide higher compensation opportunities compared to smaller markets.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY INSIGHTS FOR ACC

- There is a strong market potential to expand Data analytics and AI training programs in US and Canada.
- The growing analytics ecosystem creates opportunities for ACC to offer training, placement support, analytics consulting and BI development.
- Companies hiring may also require external support for dashboards implementation, reporting automation etc.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR ACC

- Focus on Data Analytics, Artificial Intelligence, Machine Learning, and Business Intelligence (BI) training programs.
- Python, SQL, Power BI, Excel, and Dashboard Building as core skills.
- Strengthen Placement through Resume Building and Interview Preparation and Collaboration with Companies
- First focus on expanding in the US market as jobs and salaries are more available there than in Canada
- Offer remote and hybrid programs to attract foreign students
- Consulting Services and Dashboard Creation for Businesses Using Power BI
- Project-Based Training Programs

Conclusion

As evident from the above analysis, there is high growth and demand for analysts and AI experts in the US and Canadian markets. ACC has great scope in expanding its business in these markets by offering industry-relevant training, placements, and consulting services.